

Hi Bill,

Finally there's an innovative way to communicate your brand and get your prospects to see you as a solution provider for their problem.

Cox eLearning Consultants has teamed up with HR.com to launch a series of Institutes that are committed to furthering the deployment and adoption of best practices across 32 HR verticals. This will provide an opportunity to bring together industry thought leaders that promote best practices among vendors and HR professionals. It will include research, webcasts, presentations and events (including virtual).

Could we arrange a quick phone conversation to discuss how you can align your business and brand to key executives?

When is a good time for us to talk?
